

I see BPL as being a service that could potentially cause alot of problems with amateur communications, especially when it comes to emergencies. We need to be able to communicate without having to fight spurious signals.